Role:

CRT are looking for a dynamic and focussed individual to play a key role in the implementation and delivery of the 'Reclaiming our Coalfield Communities' Project.

We have identified 3 villages from over 35 communities that have taken part in the Coalfields Community Futures Programme, they have been selected for this project because they have completed their 5 year action plans and now need to consider the next stage in their development.

This is an interesting and varied role and involves working with residents and groups to better understand community needs and aspirations, by providing information and guidance to local organisations within one of the three targeted communities.

Working with our partners, the Electoral Reform Society, you will facilitate and accelerate change through the delivery of a programme of engagement and development that builds on existing skills, relationships and other assets within identified communities.

Organisation profile:

The Coalfields Regeneration Trust (CRT) is Britain's leading regeneration agency dedicated to Coalfield Communities. Since 1999, we have awarded over £100 million in grants. However, we are far more than a grant maker and we are increasingly taking a pro-active approach to developing and investing in strategic programmes to address regeneration issues.

In Scotland, we have a funding offer from the Scottish Government to March 2017. We will be working closely with a range of partners to assist a programme of regeneration activities in targeted Coalfield Communities.
